

Paul Boyd (Author)

Having had some cosmetic work done on my teeth several years ago, the results were not as anticipated; therefore I approached Dr Atkins for advice on how best to rectify the problem as I was becoming more aware of the issue, and began to lack confidence as a result.

Graeme devised a strategy to rectify the problem, and talked me through the process, explaining what would need to be done, what the cost would be and what the end result would be. There were a couple of options available to me, and he advised on the pros and cons of both.

The surgery took place over two sessions, and the professionalism and expertise on offer from all staff in the business - from the receptionists to dental assistants to Graeme himself - were excellent. Both sessions were made as pleasurable as a trip to the dentist can be.....

The result was a new set of upper teeth which looked and felt wonderful. Monies spent on achieving this was great value considering my confidence was restored, and the whole process was made as comfortable as possible, so much so that I returned to Graeme for further cosmetic work the following year.

Given my experiences at Confidence Dental Care, I would fully recommend the service to all customers.

RECEIVED